

INTERSECT | GMD

Created by graphic design students from Intersect GMD.

College of the Canyons was seeking a distinct spirit wall design created for students and visitors that would foster school pride and enhance campus vibrancy.

For this project, I contributed through my illustrations as well as handwritten subtext that welcomes visitors and identifies campus buildings.

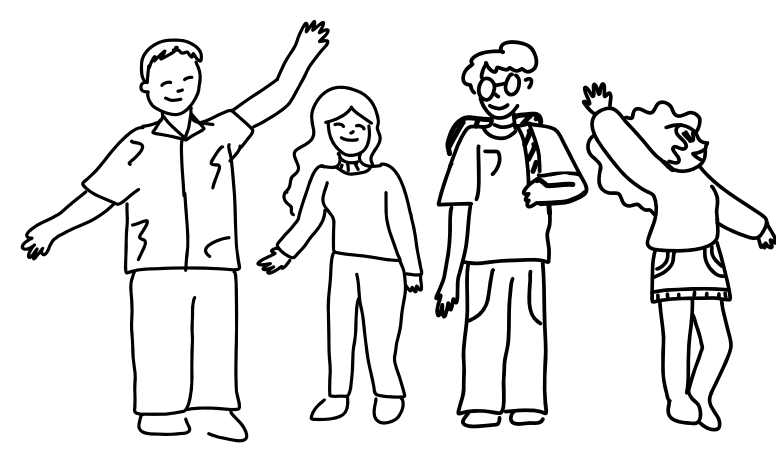

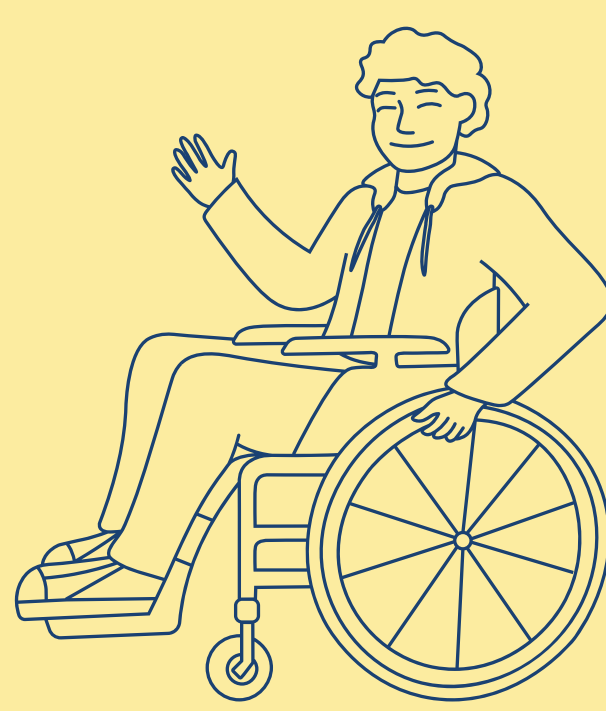

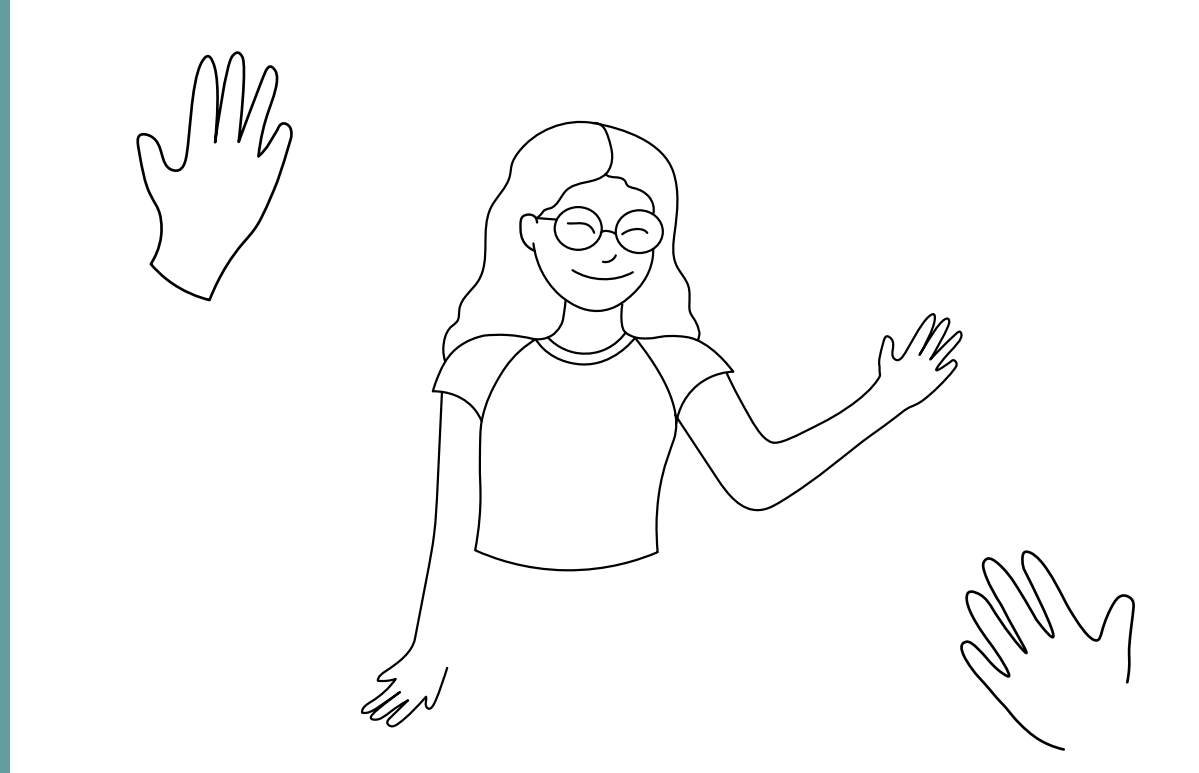

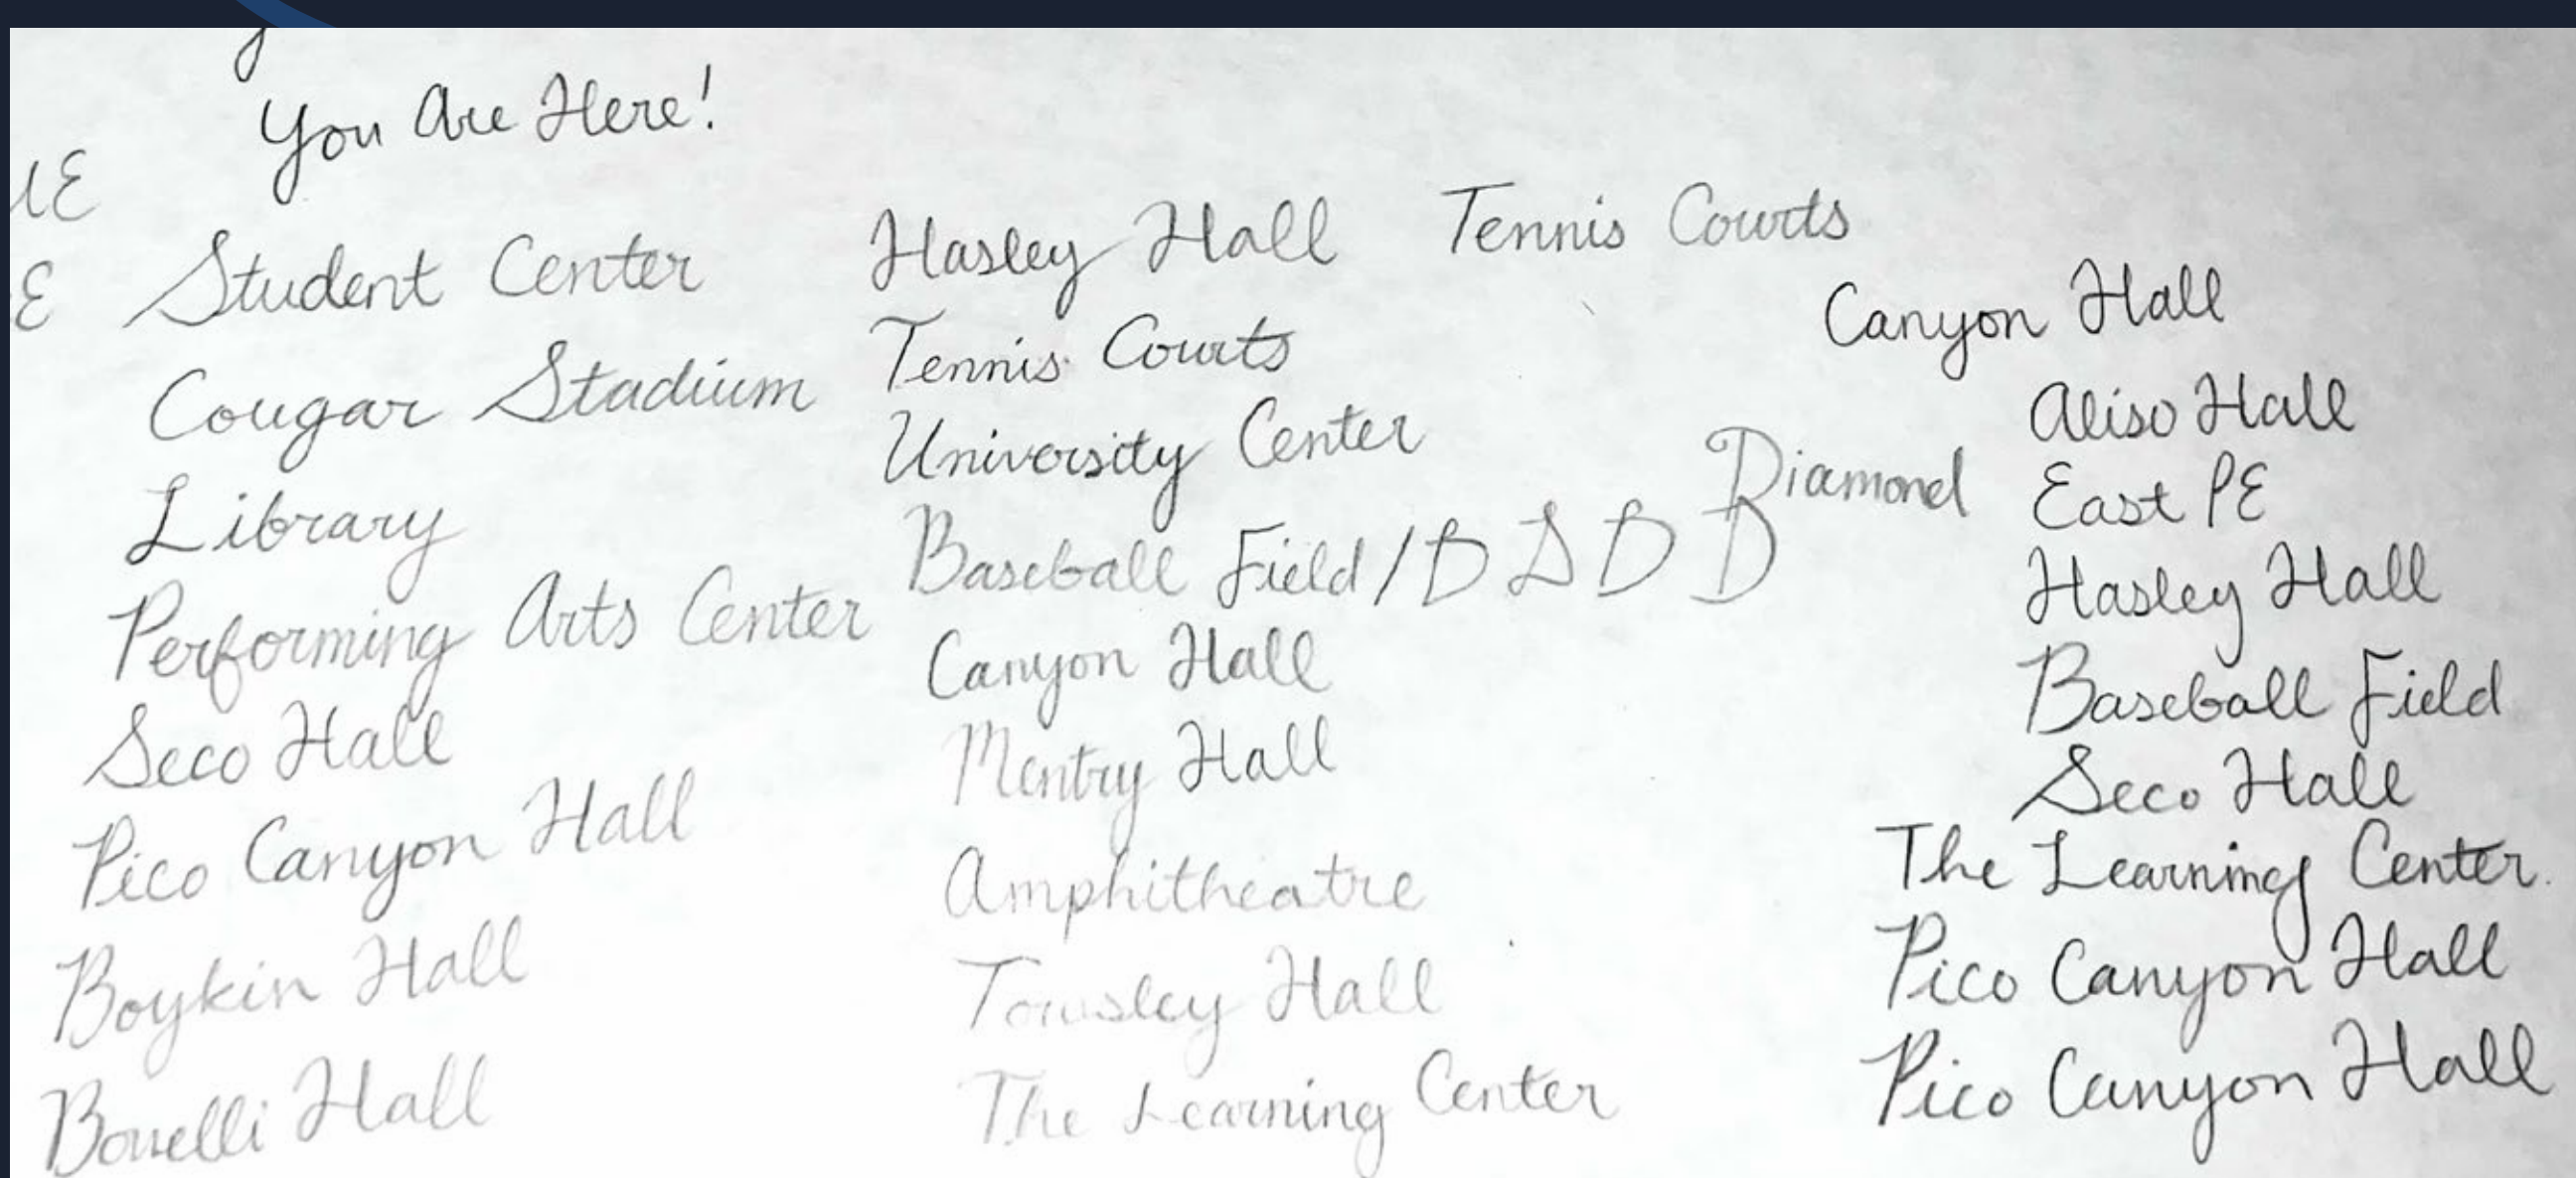

Illustration Development

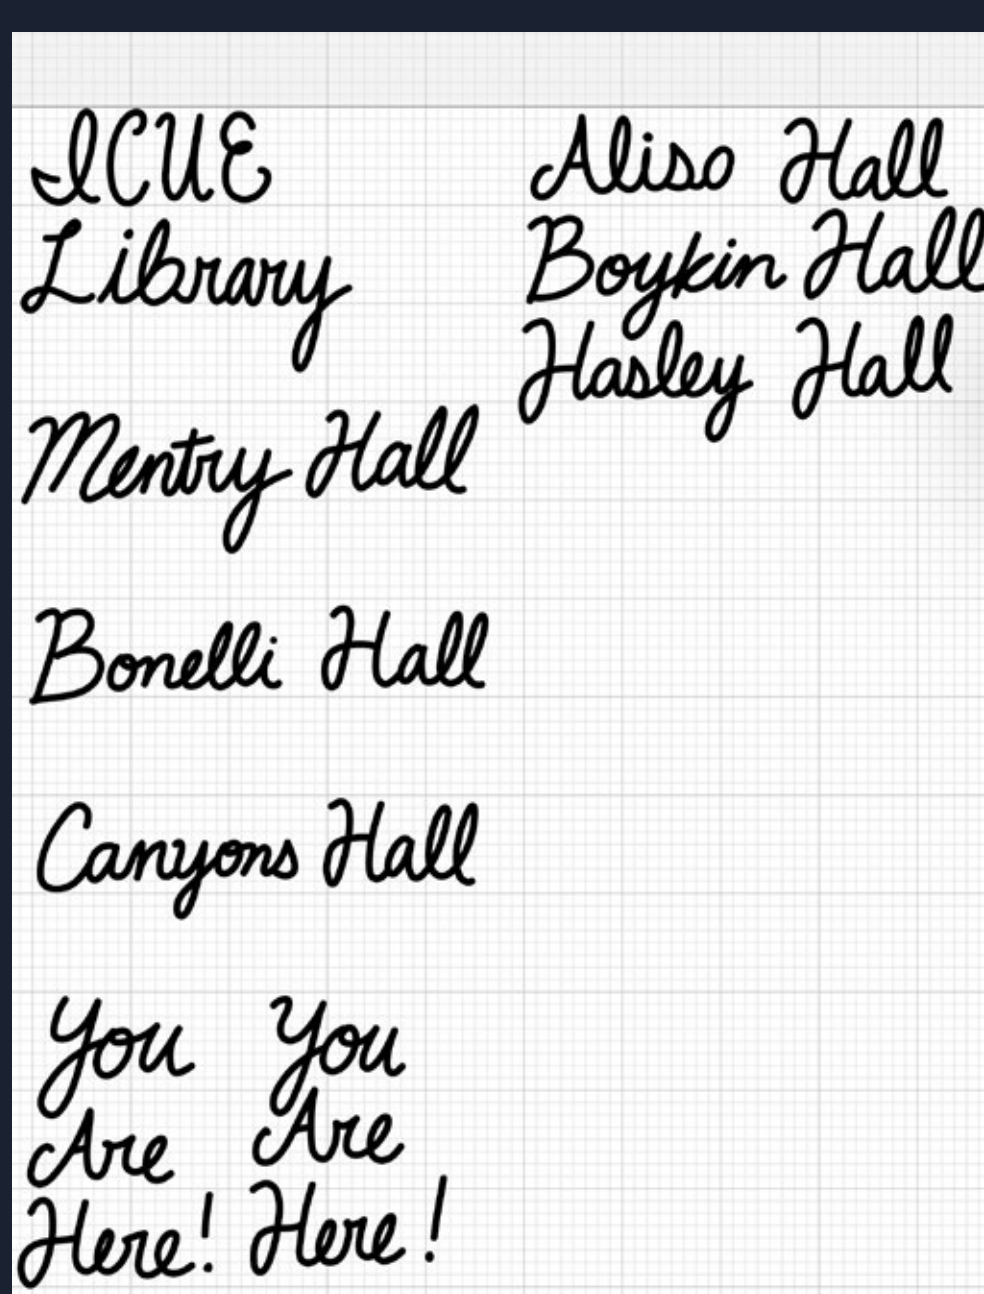

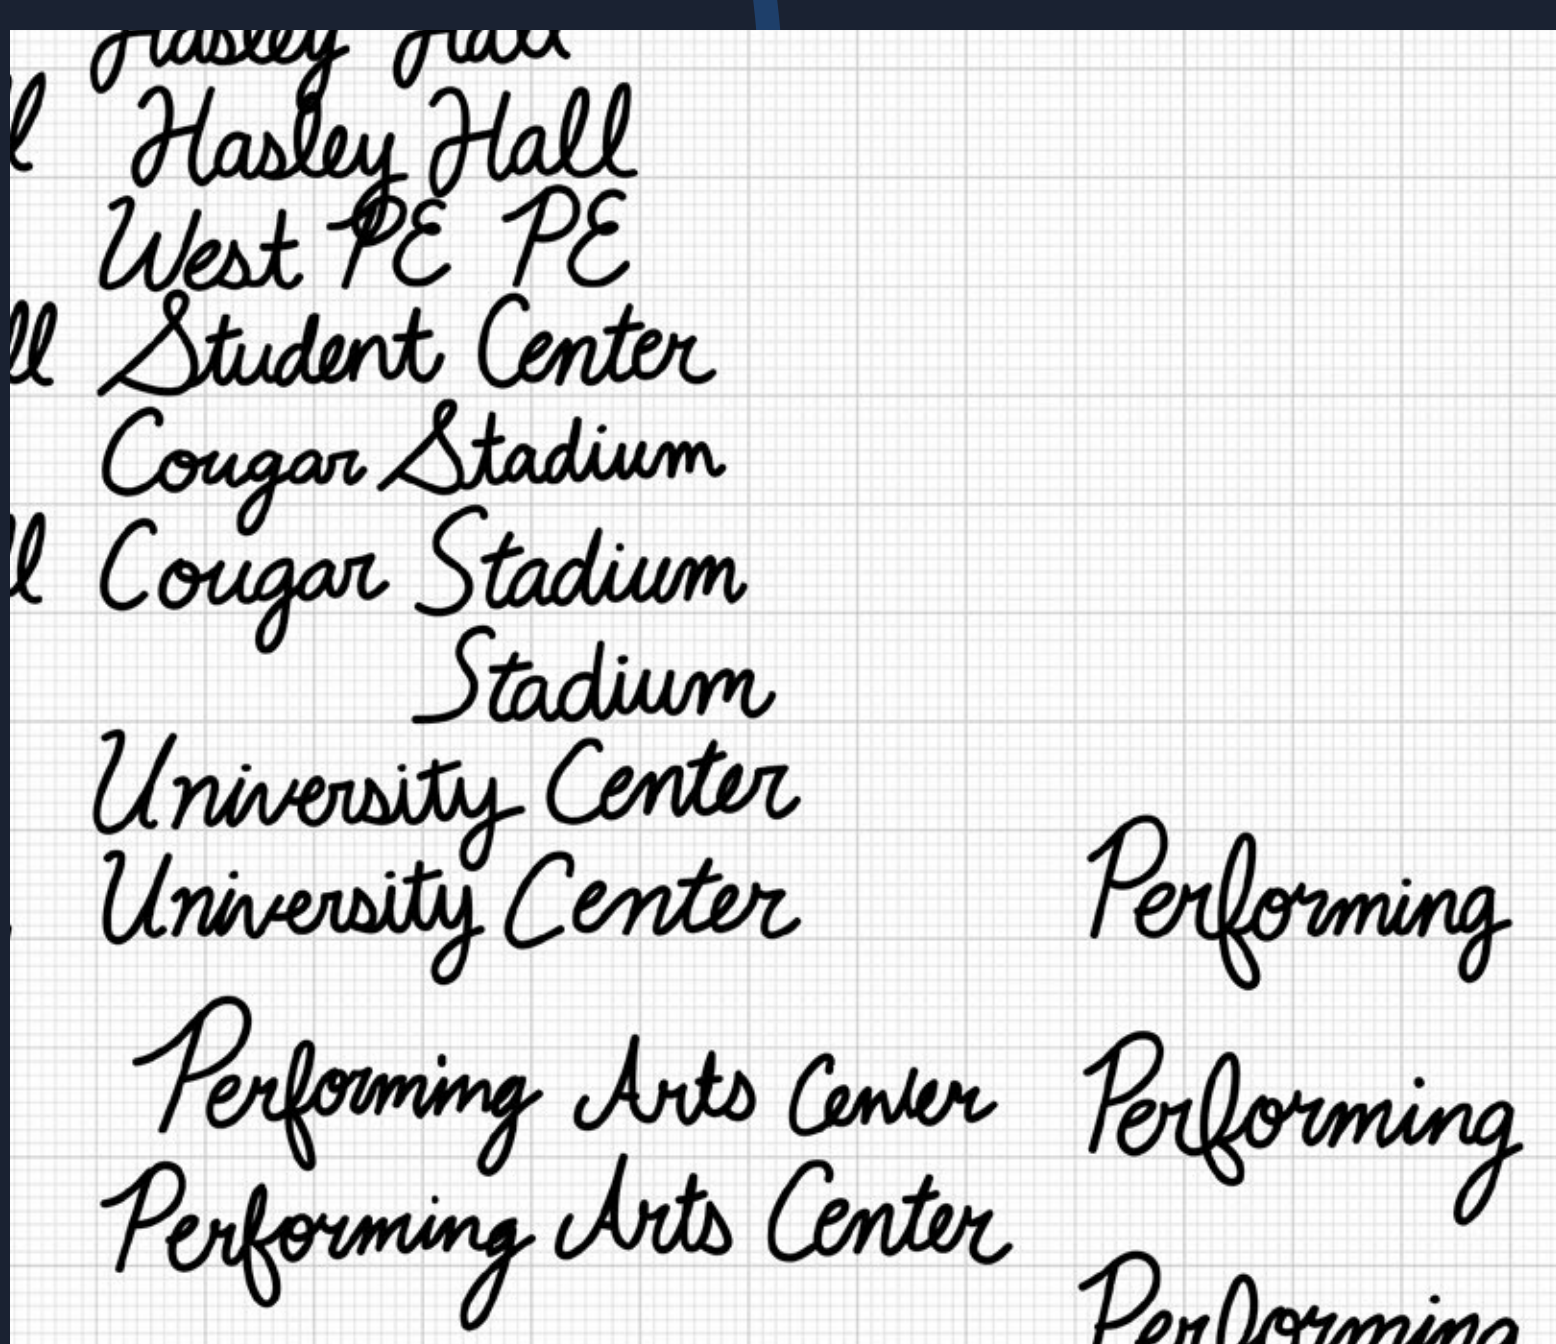

I completed these student illustrations and Brooke Dowaliby drew the missing pair of shoes, and the other set of student illustrations. Later she made posing adjustments based on client feedback.

Handwriting Development

After making a draft, I traced the names digitally to ensure consistency.
